

Senior Director, Complex Continuing Care & Inpatient Rehabilitation

Lead specialized programs that take kids from disability to possibility

As Canada's largest children's rehabilitation hospital, Bloorview Kids Rehab pioneers treatments, technologies, therapies and real-world programs that enable children with disabilities to fully engage in what life has to offer. In addition, the Bloorview Research Institute is located onsite, encouraging integrated, cutting-edge research and teaching with frontline care to improve children's quality of life.

As part of this talented inter-professional team, the Senior Director, Complex Continuing Care and Inpatient Rehab is responsible for the operation and strategic oversight of a portfolio that includes the Acquired Brain Injury Program, Complex Continuing Care Program and Specialized Orthopedics and Development Rehabilitation Service. Reporting to the V.P., Programs and Services and Chief Nursing Executive, and in close collaboration with the Physician Leadership, you will join a spirited, motivated and diverse team of clinical leaders and healthcare professionals.

Through your inclusive leadership style, you will challenge your high performance teams and evolve a culture committed to best practices and evidence-based care. By promoting exceptional clinical care and an academic health sciences center mandate, you will lead and collaborate to further the integration of research, teaching and learning into the practice environment. You will enhance performance, build accountability and push operational efficiencies while maintaining the caring, family-centered culture that Bloorview is known for. As an effective and highly communicative interdisciplinary leader, you'll work well with academic partners, build partnerships with peer organizations and continue to build capacity to meet increasing demand for care.

Likely a nursing leader in a complex and progressive healthcare organization, you have won a reputation as an energetic visionary who transforms with compassion. The successful candidate will have demonstrated achievements in leadership, program innovation and the building of strong effective teams. The Senior Director needs to have an appreciation and commitment to an academic-centric model of care, with a strong passion for research and teaching. At Bloorview, you'll join a group that shares your commitment to realizing possibilities.
